Accelerating Ideas and R&D Funding

Welcome to our third KTI quarterly newsletter for 2017.

We were pleased to welcome so many of you to our annual conference earlier this month and we thank you for joining us. The sessions were terrific and prompted some interesting discussion - some elements of which we will be exploring and sharing in this newsletter. It was great to speak with those of you we met and to see so many connecting with each other over coffee at the networking sessions with such fruitful conversations sparking - the essence of what KTI is all about...

The Impact of Knowledge Transfer - International Perspectives

Measuring the impact of knowledge transfer is increasingly complex. Historically this has involved counting outputs such as the number of licences or spin-out companies produced in any given year. While these are of course important metrics, there is a move towards recording the outcomes of knowledge transfer, both within Ireland and more globally...

Focus on... Consulting

This year a Managed Consultancy pilot programme has begun in some Universities and Institutes of Technology as part of the Enterprise Ireland Technology Transfer Strengthening Initiative (TTSI) funding programme. The aim is to establish centralised functions to support short consultancy projects for external clients, making it easier to find expertise across the HEI and to speed up and simplify pricing, contracting and invoicing...
